

& Friends of the Taos Public Library

Summer Lecture Series
Thursday, July 12, 6 P.M.
FREE

John Suazo will tell about “Stories from Taos Pueblo Elders,” that have inspired his sculptures.

John Suazo stands beside sculpture recently installed at the University of Arizona.

John Suazo, born at Taos Pueblo, has been a full-time sculptor since 1974. This award-winner sculptor says, “The stone talks to me and then we work together creating a story that fits it.”

Suazo attended the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque, Navajo Community College in Tsale, Arizona, and the Institute of American Indian Arts in Santa Fe, New Mexico. For over thirty years John Suazo has sculpted in alabaster, limestone, cedar, and walnut.

Donations gratefully accepted. Restaurant discounts available to lecture attendees.